SHAPING CITIES FOR A BETTER FUTURE

Growing planetary pressures like population growth and climate change mean urban spaces need to be more resilient and sustainable. Simon Fraser University's new major in Urban Worlds tackles these topics and equips students with the knowledge and skills needed to shape cities for the better.

Students in the Urban Worlds program learn from interdisciplinary, community-engaged researchers from the Faculty of Environment and the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, and apply their studies to local topics and opportunities throughout Metro Vancouver, one of the most diverse and livable places in Canada and the world.

With 60% of the world's population projected to live in cities within the next five years, cities matter. SFU Urban Worlds prepares students to solve the urban challenges of the future.
